Advocacy Works – Some real stories

Kiran gets a widows Pension

Kiran moved to the city from her village as a young married woman. She, her husband and 4 children lived in a makeshift 'jhuggi' (hut) in an unauthorised colony in the city's outskirts. In 2008 Kiran's 11 month old baby girl died – probably from diarrhoea. A couple of months later Kiran lost her husband. This time it was probably TB. Kiran (pictured right) was now left with 3 children, no income, living in a tiny hut and incredibly vulnerable.

The state government has a widows pension of Rs1,000 a month but Kiran wasn't getting it. Some simple enquiries found that it was the Department of Social Welfare that administers pensions (see page 12 of this manual). The department said Kiran wasn't eligible for a pension because she didn't have a bank account. Kiran had never had a bank account, so some community worker friends went to the local bank to find out about opening one. “No,” the manager informed them, “we need some identity documentation to open an account” (see page 57 of this manual). Kiran had no such documentation, so the next step was the Electoral Commission. The community workers asked the Commission to issue an Electoral Identity Card (I Card) for Kiran. After several days the officials visited her at her hut. They shook their heads and said; “No, sorry, because she lives in a slum hut, we won't give her an I card.” They protested and cited the rule that all Indian residents are eligible for Election Identity Cards whether they live in a palace or a slum hut (see page 52 of this manual). After a little more protesting, they finally agreed.

A week or so later, now with the Election Identity Card, the community workers went back to the bank, which thankfully opened the account. Next they went back to Social Welfare Department, confident they'd succeed. “No!” came the answer. “Even with the Bank account, she still needs some official government document proving she's been resident here for 5 years!” Exasperated, they wrote a letter of appeal to the head of the Social Welfare Department (see guidelines for letters on page 62), which finally agreed to their request. So after 6 months of battling with the bureaucracy, Kiran finally got her pension, back-paid for 5 months, so now she had Rs5,000 in her own bank account! She beamed ! It wasn't much, but the regular amount might be enough for Kiran and her children to survive.

Women get NREGA jobs

The women in Jagir village didn't know whether women were eligible to work under the NREGA scheme or not (see page 11 of this manual). Their husbands had a 'Job Card' under the scheme, but they didn't know if they, as women, were eligible. A local NGO's project staff informed them that indeed they were entitled to work in the scheme. Knowing this, the women went to the Gram Pradhan to ask for work. They eventually got work (and income) in road construction under NREGA.

Guddan gets a Gas Connection

Guddan had been trying for two years to get a 'pakka' (legal) gas connection. The staff at the gas office always gave some excuse for not being 'able' to give her the connection. Then Guddan attended an advocacy workshop about this manual during which she learned about her right to a gas connection (page 36 of this manual) and ways to create pressure, especially on using the Right To Information Act, should the application be stalled. Having that teaching in mind Guddan went back to the gas office. Again the officer gave some excuses, but this time Guddan threatened to complain to his superior officer in the state capital, if she didn't get her connection quickly. The officer was shocked. That simple threat of action was enough and Guddan got her gas connection within weeks!

Introduction

1. About this Manual

Madhya Pradesh has a surprising number of government services available to its residents. Many of those services should, by rights, be available to the poor residents of villages & urban slums.

Unfortunately however, many poor residents are not able to get these services due either:

- not knowing about the scheme;
- a lack of identity documents;
- a lack of confidence; or
- the behaviour of some officials.

Often when NGO's find these government services not functioning, they attempt to provide those services themselves, opening schools, clinics, vocational training programmes etc. Such service provision has the advantage that it may endear people to the NGO and may even see results quite quickly. However, the NGO can't provide these services forever. Sooner or later, they will need to help residents access government services which will continue in the long-term.

The information in this manual is only a part of a bigger strategy to empower Madhya Pradesh's poor residents. Empowerment involves not only giving the poor the knowledge of services available (pages 7-58 of this manual), but also the skills in writing and presenting applications (pages 62-64). Perhaps the most important aspect to empowerment however, is the heart to want to act selflessly for the benefit of the whole community. Appendix 1 on page 59 provides a comprehensive ten step strategy to empowerment of residents with this knowledge, skills and heart. But be warned – it is difficult, and can take years!

For each of the services in this manual (listed in the Table of Contents), we give:-

1. The relevant Central and Madhya Pradesh Govt Dept which delivers this service (with website).
2. The Entitlement/Right to residents as per that department's policy. We also give the 'Best Reference' website where those entitlements can be clearly seen. Many entitlements are listed at the MP Government site here and the Haqdarshak site here (change state to MP (top centre), then click on 'Schemes' & the type of schemes you are interested in (left), then on 'Apply Filter' (bottom left.)) Many entitlements are also listed in a "Citizens Charter". 39 Madhya Pradesh Government Depts now have a Citizens Charter (see here and scroll to XV). A summary of services, which is available to poor and non-poor residents, and the scheme/legislation name is in Appendix 2 (page 61). Madhya Pradesh also has a Right to Public Services Act (Madhya Pradesh Lok Sewaon Ke Pradan Ki Guarantee Adhiniyam, 2010) (here) which requires Government officials to provide certain services within a set time frame. If they fail to do that, they are liable to be fined. For list of services and timeframes see here. These services include: Handpumps (#3), Income certificate (#6), Pensions (#7); Caste certificates (#8), Ration Cards (#9 & #16); Disability Certificate (#12); Ladli (#14).
3. An Application Procedure to apply for that entitlement. Many application procedures & forms can be found here & here. Some hard copies of forms can be found in Section K on page 68. We give hints on writing effective applications and a sample application letter in Appendix 3 (page 62). Appendix 4 (page 63) also gives some useful tips for how to deal with government officers when presenting an application.
4. Ways to Create Pressure

The application may not initially succeed because the officer might:-

- Be away on leave, or be on 'election duty'; or
- Claim that you've come to the wrong office; or
- Say he has no authority to deal with your application & the officer with authority is away; or
- Claim that he has no 'budget' this year; or
- Claim that he doesn't have sufficient staff available; or
- Ask for an unauthorised payment. Appendix 5 (page 64) has suggestions for dealing with such situations.

Should the application not succeed, some ways to create pressure include (in order of difficulty):-

- Complaining once more to the original officer;
- Complain under the MP Right to Public Services Act;
- Using the Central Government's on-line grievance redressal mechanism here (go to 'Click here to sign up' on bottom left of screen). You should get a reply within 60 days (see FAQ #13 here).
- Lodging a Right To Information (RTI) Act application to the department where you applied. Notes on the effective use of the RTI, with an example, are given in Appendix 6 (page 65);
- Contacting lawyers at the Delhi Justice Resource Centre. (Phone 011-4050170 or email delhi@justiceventures.org);
- Conducting a 'dharna' (protest); or
- Contacting the media.

5. A success story (when available) showing where this has actually worked in real situations for people to get the services to which they are entitled.

2. Food & Water – Ration Cards

The Targeted Public Distribution System, (or 'ration card' system), aims to provide basic food at a subsidised (lower than market) price for every family. The central government has now enshrined the right to food security in law in the National Food Security Act 2013, which guarantees 5kg of foodgrains at subsidised rates for 75% of rural and 50% of urban households.

Millions of children in India are malnourished. The Anganwadi scheme aims to give all young children 6 months – 6 years (before they go to school) a nutritious meal, basic immunisations & vitamins. Once they are at school, the children are eligible for the Midday Meal Scheme (see Mid Day Meal on page 10).

They did a survey to find 40 children between 3-6 years of age and submitted it to the Department of Women and Child Development. After many phone calls, eventually in June 2011, 17 new Anganwadis started in Janta Colony, with hundreds of children now benefiting.

4. Food & Water – Mid Day Meal Scheme

The Mid Day Meal Scheme (MDMS) aims to give all school-going children up to Standard 8, one nutritious meal a day. Serving over 100 million children, it is the biggest nutrition programme in world!

The central government has recently enshrined the right to food security for school children, into law in the National Food Security Act 2013 which guarantees midday meals.

1. Relevant Department

Central Government

- National Food Security Act (NFSA) Sct 5(1)b (here).

- Complain directly to the school; then
- Use the Central Government's on-line grievance redressal mechanism (register here); then
- RTI to Madhya Pradesh Government Department of School Education (website here).

5. Success Story

In Gurpara village, teachers and students reported that the school wasn't receiving sufficient quantities of food for the mid day meal. A committee of local residents made an application and after some time, the students started receiving the proper mid day meal.

B) Income

1. Income – MGNREGA

The Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Act is possibly the biggest government employment scheme in the history of the world. Hundreds of millions of people benefit from the scheme. It allows all rural families, BPL or not, to be employed in government public works programmes (roads, irrigation etc) 100 days a year. The hope is that this income, as well as the improved infrastructure built under the scheme, will help families stay in rural areas, rather than migrating to the city.

1. Relevant Department

Central Government

- Ministry of Rural Development (website here).
- NREGA (website here).

Madhya Pradesh Government:

- Department of Panchayat and Rural Development (website here).

- Family of any NREGA worker who dies, or permanently disabled from NREGA work is eligible for Rs25,000 compensation (Schedule II, Sct 26).

- Get work within 15 days. (NREGA Schedule II, Sct 6); then

- RTI to Ministry of Rural Development (contacts here) or on-line here.

5. Success Story

The women in Jagir village didn't know whether women were eligible to work under the NREGA scheme or not (see page 11 of this manual). Their husbands had a 'Job Card' under the scheme, but they didn't know if they, as women, were eligible. A local NGO's project staff informed them that indeed they were entitled to work in the scheme. Knowing this, the women went to the Gram Pradhan to ask for work. They eventually got work (and income) in road construction under MGNREGA.

2. Income – Pensions

Pensions are cash payments by the government to BPL people when, through no fault of their own, they can no longer earn a regular income.

1. Relevant Department

Central Government

- Ministry of Rural Development (website here).

Madhya Pradesh Government

- Department of Social Justice and Disabled Welfare Department (website here).

D) Education

1. Education – Government Schools

The schooling system is one of the main ways that the gap between the rich and the poor continues to grow in India. The poor can generally only access government schools which are often Hindi-medium, overcrowded and under-resourced. The middle class can send their children to English-medium private schools, where the class sizes are smaller and teaching is better. From there, those students often go to college, whereas few government-school educated students do so. The measures below aim to improve the quality of education for the poor.

Having that teaching in mind, Guddan went back to the gas office. Again the officer gave some excuses, but this time Guddan threatened to complain to his superior officer in the state capital, if she didn't get her connection quickly. That simple threat of action was enough and Guddan got her gas connection within weeks!

3. Human Rights Abuse – Child Marriage

According to UNICEF, 47% of girls are married by 18 years of age, and 18% are married by 15 years of age. Far from the excitement of love and marriage portrayed in Bollywood, life for many girls married before 18 is awful, becoming little more than a household slave and having pressure to bear children when it is still unsafe. Girls 15-19 are twice as likely to die during pregnancy and childbirth, than women in their twenties. In effect, the girl bride's childhood is cruelly cut short by marriage. The law now prohibits girls to marry before 18 and boys before 21.

- Any dowry to be returned Sct 3(4).
- Punishment: for anyone 'promoting' or 'permitting' the child marriage. Assumed to include parents or guardians, but may also include groom (if over 21), the priest, relatives or friends (Sct 11).

4. Human Rights Abuse – Trafficking of children

Many children are given or sold by a family member, believing the child will get work or study. Often these children however, are then denied contact with their families and mistreated. Many end up in bonded labour (see page 50) and even prostitution (see page 49). The life for a trafficked child is horrific, yet it happens to thousands of children in our own country every year. The only way to stop it is for ordinary people, like you and me to act if we see anything suspicious. Any missing child or any suspicious activity that you think could be related to trafficking should be reported to the police or Childline.

Many young women and girls are given or sold to a trafficker by a family member, believing she will get work, study or marriage in the city. Often however, the girls end up in prostitution in Kolkata, Mumbai, Delhi or Gujarat. The life for a young girl, torn from her family, trafficked into prostitution and then raped multiple times a day for years is horrific, yet it happens to thousands of girls in our country every year.

6. Human Rights Abuse – Bonded/Forced Labour

The Bonded Labour Act defines it as an 'agreement' to provide 'forced labour'. An 'agreement' is broadly defined and could be an agreement to get a payment, an advance; to fulfil a customary or social obligation; to repay relative's debt; or simply by birth into a particular community. Labour is deemed 'forced' if there is; restricted freedom of; 1) employment; 2) movement; 3) sale goods and services in the marketplace; or 4) payment is below minimum wage.

90% of bonded labourers are from the SC/ST community. Thus often children or family members are given to a powerful landowner to 'pay off' a debt, only for the work to never be properly accounted, exorbitant interest charged, and the labourer never becomes free. This is modern day slavery.

1. A 10 Step Process for Empowering a Community

1. Build deep relationships with residents in the community

The key to any lasting change in a poor community is the residents themselves. Often however, after generations of poverty and being ignored by the powerful, residents are so disempowered that they passively accept their situations. Vitally important to a community being able to identify and solve its own problems then, is for a small group of residents to become empowered by developing their knowledge, skills, courage and self-confidence to become change agents within their own community. The best way to help key residents to develop this knowledge, skills, courage and self-confidence, is by the NGO's own staff forming strong mutual, caring relationships with community members. In choosing with whom to make the relationships, deliberately look for key people with the right 'heart' who can potentially take the community forward in their development journey after the NGO's staff leave.

An added advantage to forming good relationships with residents at this stage is that the NGO will tend to get the 'real' story about the community when doing research in Step 2.

2. Learn about the community – Observe & enquire

It's important to start the empowerment process by being learners, rather than experts. One of the best ways to learn about the community is to simply walk around and observe the situation with respect to: housing, power, sanitation, water, community relations, marginalised groups etc. Some things about the colony however, can't be observed, such as the history of the colony, what residents appreciate, and what they perceive to be their priority problems. For these, more hidden aspects, you need to enquire, especially of those with whom you are developing close and mutual relationships (from Step 1 above.)

3. Analyse the problems yourself, and with your colleagues

In order for the NGO's staff themselves to have a sense of the most pressing problems, as a team analyse what was learnt from Step 2. This analysis may reveal: which problems affect most residents, which problems may create opposition, and which problems will have the best chance of being resolved. This analysis is not so as to impose those findings on the community, but rather to have thought about these issues before running the community meeting (Step 4). Part of this analysis can be a 'power analysis' to find which stakeholders have most power to bring a solution to a particular problem, and whether those people are likely to want that solution or not.

4. Hold a community meeting to prioritise the problems

Even though the NGO's team has done its own analysis in Step 3, it's vital for the final decision as to which problem is tackled first, to be taken by the residents themselves. This is done in a community meeting, attended by representatives of as many groups of residents as possible; women, children, Muslims, Hindus, the disadvantaged, and so on. This is one of the most difficult steps in the entire process, as running a successful community meeting with many different groups, and different opinions, is very difficult. The facilitator will attempt to hear all parties, quieten the loudest voices, and ultimately build consensus among the residents as to which problem to tackle first.

5. Become an expert in the resources that could solve the problems

After the community has decided which problem to tackle first, the NGO team can use this Manual, its wider networks, internet research, RTI (Right To Information) applications, and so forth, to gather relevant information on resources available to the community that may be used to solve the problem. These resources may be found in the government (as seen in this Manual), or delivered by other NGOs, or indeed within the community itself. Again, this research is not done so as to impose those resources on the community, but rather to have options to put to residents in the next community meeting, when developing a Plan of Action (Step 6).

6. Plan action to solve the problem

Another community meeting is held to make a Plan of Action to solve the priority problem decided in Step 4. The plan needs to specify who will do what, when it will be done, and who will pay for any expenses. While the NGO's staff may be a part of the action plan, it's vital that the NGO's staff not take too much responsibility. If residents aren't willing to get involved, then it indicates a lack of commitment to the process. The NGO's staff need to wait until there is sufficient commitment before moving on. This planning phase may also be a good point at which to introduce God as a willing helper in the problem-solving process. In the multi-faith context of India, most people will readily agree to call on God within their own tradition to help solve community problems.

7. Take the action agreed

Residents who have agreed to take steps in the Action Plan (from Step 6) then take those steps. Often these steps involve advocating with government officers to implement existing government services which should be available to residents. Usually this will involve using the Application Procedures outlined in this Manual.

8. Reflect on the action taken

If, after carrying out the plan of action, residents have succeeded in solving the problem, then it's important to celebrate the success! If you haven't succeeded, then you residents to make a new plan, probably using the Ways to Create Pressure outlined in this Manual, and using the learnings from Step 7.

Then cycle through Steps 6-8 until the problem is solved or becomes unsolvable.

9. Do it all again with less involvement from the NGO and more from the residents

After the resolution of the first problem, return to Step 4 and choose the next community problem to tackle. In doing so, the NGO's staff take less responsibility, while encouraging residents to take more. In this way, gradually the residents, especially the 'good-hearted' people, learn the whole problem-solving process well enough that they can eventually do it without the help of the NGO's staff.

10. Form a CBO

The 'good-hearted' people identified in Step 1, and mentored through the entire problem-solving process, will eventually form an independent CBO (Community Based Organisation), that will carry on facilitating the community's development after the NGO's staff leave. That group may, after some time, wish to register as a formal Community Welfare Association, to give it more authority in dealing with the government, as well as more accountability.

3. Writing Effective Applications (with example)

In your letter of application be sure to include the following:-

1. A clear statement of your problem. For example, there are many young children in your village, but there has never been an Anganwadi. A photo of the problem (e.g. many hungry children) will make the letter even better.
2. The right you have to this scheme and the relevant law (see 'Best Reference' next to Entitlement on the relevant page). For example, under the National Food Security Act 2013, Sct 5(1)(a) every child from 6 months to 6 years has the right to a cooked meal at the Anganwadi each day.
3. Your request that is specific and clear. What do you want by when? For example, you want several Anganwadis begun by 30th June 2020.
4. Next Steps: If you don't get this action, what you will do. For example, if the Anganwadi has not been begun by 30th June 2020, you'll lodge an RTI.

NB Copy your application to Madhya Pradesh Government's office responsible for this scheme, so the local officer is more likely to respond to you.

Thus an example letter might look like this:-

Re: Anganwadi on Demand in Sivarampur village

Dear sir,

I live in Sivarampur village in District Khandwa. I respectfully state the following:-

1. Our village has a population of 2350, of which 272 are children from 6 months – 6 years old. I have attached a list of the children of this age in our village, together with a photo of them.
2. I note from the National Food Security Act 2013, Sct 5(1)(a) that every child from 6 months to 6 years has the right to a cooked meal at an Anganwadi each day.
3. I would therefore like to apply for several Anganwadis for our village. I would like these Anganwadis to begin by 30 June, 2020.
4. If the Anganwadis are not begun by 30 June 2020, I will lodge an application under the RTI Act 2005 to know what has happened with this application.

Kind regards,
Ramesh Kumar

4. Tips on Effectively Lodging Applications

After writing the application, you can post it to the correct government department. If you do that, send it Registered Post so you have proof of it having been sent. However, sometimes it's better to present the application in person. If you do that, here's some tips on how to do it well:

A. Preparation for the meeting

- Take a key resident from the community (so they are directly involved and learn the process).
- Have the purpose of the visit clearly in mind.
- Get an appointment if possible (so as to not waste time).
- Dress formally (to make a good impression).
- Take your ID card & visiting card if you have them.
- Have your diary, paper & pen (to write down any information).
- Take 2 copies of any letter or document you want to present (to give one, and get a 'received stamp on the other).
- Take the original and copies of any document you may need (to show but not give, the original).
- Know where the office is.
- Have enough money for an auto rickshaw (if getting late).
- Get there on time.
- Know the rules & policies (including this officer's superior's name) before you go in.
- Decide what pressure you're prepared to apply BEFORE you go in, so you know what you can threaten if he/she is unreasonable.
- Decide who will speak (so you don't speak at the same time.)

B. During the meeting

- Introduce yourself and, if appropriate, check this officer's name and position.
- Clearly state your purpose for coming (may involve giving the letter – if so, get a 'received' stamp).
- Stay calm! If there's an argument or raised voices, you will lose!
- Repeat whatever s/he says to you (whether negative or positive). Often when the officer hears his unreasonable response repeated, he softens it.
- Present whatever letter or application you want to and get a 'received' stamp as proof.
- If you can't get him/her to 'receive' your application, then at least fix any future date in your diary. Don't accept "I'll do it later", because generally 'later' means 'never'.
- If the officer doesn't do what's reasonable, clearly state whatever follow up pressure you intend.
- Thank him/her!

C. Debrief the meeting

- Debrief the meeting with the person you went with by asking: - "How was that meeting for you?"
- Reflect on on what went well, and what you could do better next time.

D. Record the meeting

Write down: -

- Date & time of meeting and who you met with.
- The result of the meeting (attach extra sheet if necessary).
- Attach the 'received' copy of any letter given.
- Put any follow up on the appropriate date in your diary/phone.

E. Follow up on the meeting

- Do whatever it was that you said to the officer you would do.
- If there was a promise for some action by the officer by a certain date, then as the date approaches, check with him/her that it will happen.
- Once a positive result has been achieved, make sure to thank him/her with phone call or visit.

5. Dealing with Corruption

How does corruption work?

Many times, a government officer will not accept or process your application, or simply delay working on it until s/he receives a bribe. Usually these requests are unspoken, or will have code words like 'chai pani' or 'kuchch de do' (give something). Sometimes, rather than taking bribes directly from the public, middlemen (dalaals) take 'service fees' from the public, a proportion of which they then pay as a bribe to the official to get the work done. Like everything else in a capitalist economy, there is a supply and demand, so the more desperate the demand for the service, the more the bribe is likely to be. Of course, there will not be any receipt issued for any such payments, making it hard to prove the bribery. If accused, the official will simply deny that he/she ever received anything. Such bribes can amount to huge amounts of money, such that many government officers have to pay huge bribes themselves to be posted in jobs where the potential for bribe collection is large. Many people are desperate enough to get their work done, that they pay such fees and commissions. This is understandable, given the frustration of getting what you need without bribing.

What are the problems with the system?

- The more people pay bribes, the more it becomes entrenched in the system.
- Since the poor can't afford the bribes, corruption effectively excludes them from accessing the very services that were designed to benefit them. Hence, many widows aren't getting pensions, and many impoverished families don't have subsidised gas, simply because they can't afford the bribe!
- Some honest, hard-working government officers, are corrupted by this system.
- The bribes slow down systems that could and should work much more efficiently.

What can we do when faced with a request for a bribe?

a) Before the interaction:

- Know your rights, applicable fees etc (perhaps using this Manual), so you can't be deceived.
- Where possible, lodge applications on-line or by post, to avoid possible bribe requests.
- For written applications, use the format in Appendix 3 (page 62), so the officer knows you're serious
- Go with another person, so that there's a witness to any request for a bribe.

b) During the interaction, if an officer asks you for 'chai pani' or 'kuchch de do' then:-

- Ask him/her to show you where the fee is written down (to highlight its illegality).
- Say you'll happily pay the fee, if he gives you a receipt (also to highlight its illegality).
- Repeat his/her request loudly, so that others in the vicinity hear and s/he gets embarrassed.
- If he/she persists, make a show of noting the details of the interaction in a way that the officer knows you're noting it. Note the day, time, place & exact request. Note the officer's name and designation. If he refuses to give his name, then note down any feature that might identify him, like a name badge, which desk he's sitting at, or any physical features.

c) After the interaction, decide whether this is an important enough issue to take further action on.

If so:

- Type out concisely the details of what happened; date, place, time, officer, exact request etc; then
- Find the name of the bribe-taking officer's superior, (from others, websites, or this Manual); then
- Present your written complaint to the superior officer (or to any other complaint body listed in the 'Ways to Create Pressure' section of each service in this Manual); then
- When making the complaint, get a 'received' stamp. Include a request that he notify you of what action s/he takes. Also include the threat that if you don't hear anything within 2 weeks, you'll lodge an RTI to find out what happened. Then actually do whatever you threatened to do; then
- If still nothing happens, phone CBI anti-corruption number 9968 081216,7,8; then
- Use the Central Government's on-line grievance redressal mechanism (register here); then
- If still nothing happens, contact an NGO working in this field; then
- Go to the media.

6. Notes on effective use of the RTI (with example)

1. When is the RTI useful?

When you have an individual problem (eg Pension application not processed) or a community problem (eg Anganwadi not functioning); and

- You've applied for the problem to be fixed (using the 'Application Procedure' in this Manual); and
- A reasonable period has expired; and
- Other Ways to Create Pressure suggestions (in this Manual) haven't worked.

2. How to write an RTI

a) Necessary information

- The name of the department you applied to, the relevant Public Information Officer, and his address
- Date;
- Mention of “The Right to Information Act 2005”;
- The information requested (see below, and example following);
- Fee Rs10 (remember to get the receipt) (for BPL Card holders, no fee, attach a copy of BPL card);
- Your signature (of the applicant);
- Your name; address; and telephone number.

b) In the body of your RTI, include these 5 points (see example below)

- State the date of your original application and attach a copy;*
- Ask the time that it should take to process an application according to the Citizens Charter or rules;*
- Ask what action has been taken, by which officers (with names), on which dates, since you applied;*
- Ask what punishment has been or will be given to the officers responsible for the delay; and*
- Ask when your application will be finalised.*

3. To whom to lodge your RTI

- The RTI should be sent to the Public Information Officer (PIO) of the concerned government department. The relevant page in this manual gives links for PIOs.
- If it turns out NOT to be the correct government department, it's the PIO's responsibility to send the RTI to the correct place within 5 days (Sct 6(3) of the RTI Act 2005 here).

4. How to lodge your the RTI?

* On-Line: For Central Government Dept/Ministries, you can file/pay on-line at <https://rtionline.gov.in/>; or

* By Speed/Registered Post:(so you have a record). For RTI fee, use Postal Order with Payee line blank;or

* In person at the department;

For all methods, the reply should still come within 30 days from the original RTI lodgement (Sct 7(1)).

5. Possible results and actions

There are 5 possible results of your RTI and corresponding actions as seen in the table below:-

Result	Action
1. You are not allowed to lodge RTI	Complain to Central Information Comm(CIC) here (within 90 days)
2. No response, but work done	None
3. Correct information	None
